MARINE CORPS SCHOOLS

A special report on newly made changes at the Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Va., including a four-week extension of the course at the Basic School, is published on page 1007 of this issue. It's part of a continuing effort by THE JOURNAL to keep readers advised of latest developments at key Service schools.

Thousands Named For Army Ranks

The Army late this week released a recommended list containing names of more than 5,000 first lieutenants and captains selected for promotion to temporary captain and major.

Also released and published on Page 1000 of this issue are two additional promotion increments to temporary major. Last week's issue of THE JOURNAL contained names of those on the first four lists to temporary major.

It is expected that three more lists to major will be announced in April—making a total of nine with a total of about 1,200 names.

The Army may be able to make some temporary promotions to captain late this month; if not, the first advancements to that rank will come in May.

The complete recommended list to temporary major, less the names of those designated in promotion orders through S.O. 77, and the full recommended list to temporary captain are contained in Circular 624-25.

The Army cautioned that the lists—made available too late for inclusion in this issue—are subject to additional administrative review and are not to be construed as promotion orders.

PENTAGON ASKS $15 MILLION FOR FAMILIES

The Defense Department has asked Congress to O.K. reduced rentals for thousands of Service families forced to occupy substandard quarters, but now required to forfeit full allowances.

The Pentagon says this is unfair. It asks authority for a plan—backed by President Eisenhower—which would permit Service Secretaries to designate certain housing as being "substandard" because of inadequacy of acceptable livability, size, construction, utilities or necessary facilities for family use, and to charge reduced rentals which "will be in the best interest of the United States."

The Department said that its plan would result in an increased cost of $40,251,000, but added that receipts from rentals of such facilities will be about $25,000,000. This means a net cost to the Government—and consequently in this case a savings to Service families—of about $15,000,000 for the fiscal year beginning 1 July 1956.

The legislation would affect the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, Coast and Geodetic Survey and the Public Health Service.

In determining what housing is "substandard," the Service Secretaries would use as a criterion the minimum standards established for permanent family quarters construction programs. Their determination would be "final and conclusive."

To prevent indefinite occupancy of inadequate housing, the bill provides that such quarters must be demolished within four years unless it is (1) altered or improved so as to qualify as public quarters, (2) is urgently needed because of a shortage of housing located within a reasonable proximity and available at suitable rentals, or (3) is inadequate by reason of size alone.

AF Eases Retirement Rules After 20

The Air Force has announced officially the adoption of liberalized voluntary retirement rules for warrant officers and officers below general officer rank, who have at least 20 years' active Federal service.

The action was forecast in last week's issue of THE JOURNAL.

Here are the details as released in a Defense Department statement on 20 April.

Regular colonels not serving in a higher temporary grade must have 25 years promotion list service, and have served at least two years in grade as a permanent colonel.

Permanent lieutenant colonels must have 23 years promotion list service and two years in the grade presently held.

Regular permanent majors and below must have six years in current permanent grade and two years in current temporary grade.

Reserve Officers serving in the grade of colonel must have a total of 25 years active and inactive time, with two years active duty in the grade of colonel.

Reserve Officers serving in the grade of lieutenant colonel must have 23 years active and inactive time, and have served two years on active duty as a lieutenant colonel.

Reserve Officers serving in the grade of major or below must have served six years in current active duty grade.

At least 10 years of the 20 years active federal service must have been in a com-

DoD Asks Hill O.K. For Housing Millions

Urgency of the family housing situation throughout the Armed Forces—in the U.S. and overseas—has prompted the Defense Department to ask Congressional authorization for $329,983,300 worth of quarters—almost one-third more than had been forecast in January.

The housing request is contained in an over-all $2,354,352,300 public works bill which reached the Capitol on 20 April.

Published on Page 999 of this issue are the designated Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps installations where new housing is asked. Additional requests were made for classified facilities.

The Pentagon said that 17,000 units would be built with appropriated funds—to be sought later—totaling $254,983,300.

Additionally, the Defense Department asked Congress to boost from the previously authorized $25,000,000 to $100,000,000 the money that may be used for housing overseas from the Surplus Agricultural Commodities Program.

Said the Defense Department:

Congress Studies New Survivor Benefits; Everyone In Uniform To Be Affected

Sweeping revisions in Survivor Benefits for Service families, highlighted by a plan to place all active duty personnel under Social Security on a permanent basis, are under "exploratory study" at the Pentagon.

Changes in current law, which the Kaplan Commission last year labeled a "hodge podge," are designed to eliminate present inequities and improve benefits for survivors, Defense officials said.

Affected by the proposal would be every person on active duty, many on the retired lists and large numbers of survivors of Service personnel.

A savings clause in the legislation proposed by the Defense Department to the Hardy Select Committee of the House of Representatives would make certain that no person loses out on present rights as a result of new legislation.

This chart shows in essence what changes are suggested by the Pentagon in providing benefits for survivors of Active Duty personnel—

Technical Manpower Lack Hurts Defense

The shortage of technical manpower is forcing the Defense Department to choose between old and new types of weapons instead of preparing for both old and new kinds of war.

"THE MOST SERIOUS limitation on progress in our over-all defensive position, especially in the development field, is the scarcity of qualified research and engineering and production organizations, and the scarcity of qualified scientists and engineers to man them—not funds."

There are the provocative statements of Assistant Defense Secretary (Applications Engineering) Frank D. Newbury, made in one of his rare public addresses on 19 Apr. to the American Society of Mechanical Engineers Diamond Jubilee Meeting in Baltimore, Md.

He asserted that "no military planner should be expected to abandon currently available conventional weapons and plan only for use of newer weapons, such as guided missiles and nuclear weapons," but maintained "it is sensible to slow up on the development of new types and sizes of anti-aircraft guns and rockets, for example, in favor of concentrated efforts to speed up the development and test period of guided missiles for the same applications."

Mr. Newbury asked: "Why do we have to choose between the old and new types of weapons? Why not continue to prepare for both the old and new kinds of war?"

The response: "We must choose between them because we do not have the technical manpower even if the money-cost were no objection, to do both. The top-grade scientific and engineering talent that is required for the development of nuclear weapons and powerplants, of guided missiles, electronic gear, and supersonic aircraft is so limited that the attempt to spread this talent too thinly over too many projects will delay most of them."

"CONCENTRATION of the available technical resources on a smaller number of the most important projects will produce the strongest defense."

Mr. Newbury warned that "if we ever lose the armament race to the USSR with its more limited technical and industrial resources, it will be because the USSR has of necessity practiced a policy of selection of its objectives and concentration of its resources on a relatively few types and sizes of weapons and equipment in its military program."

Pointing to the magnitude of the Defense engineering problem, the Assistant Secretary said the Services spend about $2 billion per year for engineering development and testing of new weapons and equipment.

OUTLINING OBJECTIVES of his office, Assistant Secretary Newbury said "we are promoting a policy of concentration of effort on a smaller number of major developments to conserve our limited national resources of qualified engineering manpower and industrial organizations."

He called for a "consolidation of similar engineering experience that exists within the different military departments, and a gradual but accelerated consolidation of development facilities of the different military departments."

Mr. Newbury suggested also a "considerable extension" of single service responsibility for development and procurement of a specific type of equipment that will be used by more than one Service.

New Survivors' Benefits Plan Affects All In Uniform

Several changes have been made in the comprehensive Survivor Benefits plan advanced last year by the high-level Kaplan Commission. It was stated then that some changes might be necessary.

Kaplan Report conclusions, however, remain central to the formulation of the new Pentagon plan.

Where the Kaplan Committee, which explored all Government survivor benefit plans, proposed a six months death gratuity payment computed on base pay, but with an increased minimum and a stipulated maximum, the Defense Department now suggests that this death gratuity be equal to four months gross pay, but with a ceiling of $3,000.

In comparison with current legislation which provides $92.90 monthly for 10 years to a survivor of a person who dies on active duty, the Pentagon proposes that this be changed to a payment of $50 per month indefinitely to a widow who does not remarry and $50 for a limit of 10 years for a widow who remarries.

The Kaplan Committee recommended a Serviceman's compensation payment to a widow based on 80 per cent of the first $100 of base pay and 20 per cent of the remainder, instead of the present flat payments, regardless of rank.

The revised plan, now under study by the Congressional group, would provide instead a death compensation equal to 20 per cent of gross pay, thus carrying forward the Kaplan Report conclusion that there should be a differentiation based on rank.

With the Kaplan Report findings, the (Continued on Page 1023)

"Housing units covered in this request for authorization, together with housing authorized by the 83d Congress, represent the initial stage of a long-range housing program for military personnel and their dependents."

Last year, Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson asked authorization of $350,000,000 for family housing, to provide 25,000 homes. But this was cut in half.

When actual appropriations were sought against the authorization legislation, Congress again chopped the Pentagon proposal, finally approving $75,000,000 for family housing.

Mr. Wilson, testifying on the military pay raise legislation, said recently that the Services have a "total need" of approximately 175,000 quarters.

Air Force Secretary Harold E. Talbott, describing the housing situation as a major deterrent to morale and effectiveness, said his Service alone needs 50,000 units "in a hurry."

The Defense Department's new public works bill would provide authorization for $1.3 billion worth of construction in the U.S.; $652 million overseas and $396 million at classified installations.

The Army would get $543 million; Navy, $581 million; Air Force, $1.17 billion and $56 million would go to the Central Intelligence Agency for purchase of land and construction of new headquarters.

Warrant officers must have served on active duty for at least five years in warrant or commissioned status, and have held current warrant grade or equivalent pay grade for at least two years.

The Air Force said that heretofore Regular Officer voluntary retirement with less than 30 years service was based on such individual circumstances as undue hardship, imminent mandatory retirement, or other personal factors with retirement not adversely affecting the interests of the Air Force. Consideration of these individual circumstances will still be given under the new policy.

All officers with 30 years active service who apply for voluntary retirement may normally expect approval of their application. This is not a change from current policy, the announcement explained.

and major was not released, it can be stated that first pass-overs rank into the several hundreds, with second pass-overs, meaning separation, probably counted in the scores.

The Army has said that in past-selection action for temporary promotions, about 750 officers are chosen from each 1,000 considered.

The cut-off date for the zone of consideration on the Army List was 30 Sept. 1950 to major and 30 Nov. 1952 to captain.

The Army now has published recommended lists for the ranks of colonel and lieutenant colonel (from previous selections), major and captain.

Officials have stated that publication of these lists will help in making new assignments.

They are also of increasing interest as a result of the new policy which will result in separation for most Reservists who fail of selection for higher temporary rank twice in a row.

This Table Is Key To Survivor Benefits

IN order for a Serviceman to compute benefits his survivors might receive under the new plan advanced by the Defense Department and now under Congressional study, it is essential that he understand what is meant by the term "gross pay."

The tentative draft of the legislation under "exploratory study" by the Hardy Select Committee states:

"Gross Pay means a monthly sum equal to the average basic pay, allowances, special pay, and the monetary value of emoluments which a member of a Uniformed Service . . . receives when entitled to pay from the United States for military service, and for each pay grade, according to cumulative years of service, is as set forth below:

BUSES AND TAXIS FOR OFF-POST TRAVEL

Commercial buses and taxis will be used in the future to transport military and civilian personnel of Ft. Sam Houston, Tex., on short, off-post trips.

Military vehicles, formerly used on all trips, now will be employed only for transportation between Ft. Houston to other outlying military installations in the San Antonio area.

The new policy, effective immediately, is in line with President Eisenhower's directive curtailing the use of government vehicles where other transportation is available. The new system is designed to "eliminate dead-head mileage and man hours lost by drivers through excessive waiting time on local trips."

All requests for transportation will be filtered through the Ft. Houston pool dispatcher, who will relay the orders to one of the San Antonio taxi companies. Bus service will be arranged for groups of 15 or more passengers.

WHAT'S IN A NAME? ENGINEERED CONFUSION

A top Defense Department official has confirmed that there is "applied" confusion in the designation of at least one Pentagon office—his own!

Speaking 19 April to the American Society of Mechanical Engineers in Baltimore, Md., Assistant Defense Secretary Frank D. Newbury described how he serves Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson as "a staff engineering vice president."

Mr. Newbury recounted that the Rockefeller Committee, which recommended reorganization of the Defense Department in 1953, originally wanted to designate the new office as Assistant Secretary of Defense (Engineering), but feared it might be confused with the Army Corps of Engineers.

So instead the office was named Assistant Secretary of Defense for Applications Engineering.

"I am afraid that confusion has been increased rather than avoided," commented Assistant Defense Secretary (Applications Engineering) Newbury.

Pentagon Discloses Family Housing Projects

THE Defense Department this week released a breakdown of proposed family housing projects in connection with an authorization request of $254,938,300 for "urgently needed" quarters.

Additionally, the Department wants $75,000,000 more for family housing overseas from the Surplus Agricultural Commodities Program, which previously accounted for $25,000,000 for this purpose.

Here are the housing projects listed by the Pentagon by individual Service, with installations designated in an alphabetical listing of States.

Senators Back Military "Hitchhikers"; Believe Hoover Report Bad For Morale

The Hoover Commission report on military "hitchhikers" has run into Senate opposition.

Senators Strom Thurmond (D-S. C.) and Wayne Morse (D-Ore.), believe military personnel should be permitted to hitchhike on military aircraft and that to take the privilege away would destroy a fringe benefit and damage morale.

Senator Thurmond (a Brigadier General in the U. S. Army Reserve) says he yields "to no one in desiring to eliminate waste, and to improve efficiency within the military services." But he is equally "opposed to broad and sweeping generalizations which, if effective, would reduce the fringe benefits available to our military personnel."

Personally, Senator Thurmond said, he thinks the "hitchhiking" problem "if analyzed would be found to involve little or no cost to the Government."

Senator Morse said in his judgment, "one of the greatest losses of military morale in recent years has come as a result of a very piecayunish and parsimonious tightening up on the so-called fringe benefits available to military personnel."

He added that "Great savings can be made in the military, but I believe it is false economy to make those savings in such ways as denying military personnel an opportunity to have a free plane ride home, shall I say, when a plane is going to the vicinity of their home, anyway."

Senator Morse said "We subsidize the commercial airlines sufficiently without insisting upon an indirect form of subsidy by means of requiring that when military personnel wish to go home for a visit—and all of us know they have little free money in their pockets—they must purchase commercial airline tickets, even though a military plane is going to the same vicinity at the same time."

Senator Thurmond said leave is one of the most important morale factors in the military service and, "Due to the far flung locations of our military forces, such leave, if to be enjoyed frequently, requires transportation beyond the financial ability of most military personnel."

He said "It may be true that in some cases the individuals would have flown commercially if free military transportation were not available. It is much more likely they would not be able to get home in many more instances if military transportation were not available, because of the cost involved."

The Hoover Commission charged in a recent report on transportation (JOURNAL 9 April) that "50-60 per cent of the passengers on military aircraft within continental United States are hitchhikers" who hitched rides on military aircraft after receiving a 6-cents-per-mile travel allowance.

Hoover Group Asks Changes For Property Officers; Urges Disposal Of Reserve Ships

New rules for the assignment and promotion of military personnel engaged in property management work have been proposed by the Hoover Commission.

The recommendations are contained in the Commission's latest report which urges reorganization of surplus property disposal procedures throughout the Government.

The problem of getting rid of surplus property is "enormous," the Commission states, and vast savings could be made through better property management "particularly within the military establishment, which accounts for about 99 per cent of all goods bought and stocked by the Government."

A task force headed by Brig. Gen. Robert E. Wood, USA-Ret., former Board Chairman of Sears, Roebuck and Co., made the study, citing numerous examples of alleged military property "waste."

Commission recommendations affecting the Defense Department are highlighted in proposals which call for:

- Dispersal of all obsolete, overage, badly damaged or useless ships in the National Defense Reserve Fleet.
- Continuous service "over considerable periods of time" for military personnel engaged in property management activities.
- Rank and promotion opportunities for such personnel "comparable to those in the combat military services."
- A cut in authorized stock levels for the military services, "particularly for common use military items which are readily available from current production or which rapidly become obsolescent."
- New rules to prohibit the purchase of items by one department which are in excess supply in another department.
- Speedy completion of the Federal supply catalog.

Property Officers

The Commission said property management within the military Services "beginning with procurement and extending through inventory accounting, warehousing and property disposal should be placed in the hands of skilled civilians." Military personnel assigned to such duty should "be required" to continue in the assignments for long periods.

Difficulties in military supply management, the report states, "are increased by the military practice of rotating officers in their assignments as a matter of career planning to develop a rounded general officer corps. The rotation system forces officers to spend limited tours of duty in a wide variety of assignments."

The Commissioners believe "property management functions are too important to be left to personnel who are subject to such rotating assignments, many of which are unrelated to business activities."

By turning over such duties to civilians, the report states, the Services "would increase the efficiency of business management and free professional military personnel for greater concentration on their strictly military duties."

Ship Disposal

The Commission ran into a "special problem in the scrap disposal area."

The Maritime Administration, custodian of overage, obsolete and badly damaged ships in the Reserve Fleet, cannot sell such ships without the approval of the Navy. And Navy policy "is to retain anything afloat, on the principle that numerous uses can be made of ships, regardless of condition, in time of an emergency."

The group reported that "only a few of the most battered ships are released for scrapping from time to time."

The report continues, "In view of the uncertain picture as to the status and value of elements of the National Defense Reserve Fleet, the Commission believes that it would be timely to determine both the extent to which the Government is retaining in its custody ships that are worthless except for scrap and the annual expenditures for their care and upkeep."

The Commissioners recommended that the President direct the Defense Secretary and the Maritime Administration "assisted by outside independent consultants, to make an inspection for scrapping or otherwise disposing of all elements of the National Defense Reserve Fleet in the categories of obsolete, overage, badly damaged, or useless ships."

Cite Examples

The Commission said its task force made "random selection" of supply items in common use "and easily obtainable from manufacturers" and charged "that military depots stock many such items sufficient for a 20 or 30 and even, in one case, a 128 years' supply."

Here are some of the alleged examples cited by the Commission:

At the Navy Ships Parts Control Center, Mechanicsburg, Pa., the task force found enough gear drives (over 6,000, costing $7.71 each) to last for 128 years.

At the Warner Robins Air Materiel Area depot in Georgia, the task force found that stock on hand as against the monthly issue rate represented from 0 to 79 years' supply.

At the Raritan Army Stock Control Point in New Jersey, 10 items were examined. The total inventory of the 10 items was about $1 million, representing an average of 32.6 years' supply and more than $430,000 of the inventory of these items was determined to be excess.

Limited Transfers

The Commission found that only limited transfers of excess property take place among major organizations of any one department, such as the Defense Department.

"For example," the report states, "total excesses declared by the military departments during the period from fiscal year 1951 through the first nine months of 1954 amounted to almost $3 billion, yet only $105 million of property was redistributed for utilization by agencies within the Defense Department."

In examining the problem of disposal of overseas excess property, the Commission found that "the three military departments with their separate supply systems (and separate supply systems within systems) are not organized for the efficient interchange of excess stocks."

A military activity "finding itself in need of new supplies prefers to make requisitions through its own pipelines back to the United States," and "transfers among military activities overseas are made on an emergency and haphazard basis," the report states.

The Commission recommended that the Defense Secretary:

- 1—Direct the downward revision of authorized stock levels to more realistic limits.
- 2—Require that stocks on hand do not exceed authorized levels.
- 3—Require rapid elimination of present and future excess stock by redistribution to maximum extent possible.
- 4—Prohibit further purchase of items in excess supply until such stocks have been brought down to the newly validated stock levels.
- 5—Make it mandatory for each supply and inventory control point to check its counterpart in the other military services prior to new procurement to ascertain whether excess or material in long supply is available for transfer.

Serving with General Wood on the Task Force were Harry Erlicher, special assistant to the Under Secretary of the Army and former general purchasing agent and vice president of General Electric; Leroy D. Greene, consultant to the ODM, and formerly with Bethlehem Steel in charge of buying and selling of scrap and demolition activities; Thomas D. Jolly, vice president of the Aluminum Company of America; Carl Kresl, former merchandise supervisor of Sears, Roebuck & Co.; James D. Mooney, former president and chairman of the board of Willys Overland Motors, Inc.

Also George A. Renard, executive secretary-treasurer of the National Association of Purchasing Agents, and member of the U. S. Navy Advisory Committee on Procurement and of U. S. Munitions Advisory Board on Stockpiling Materials; Edward Starr, jr., partner of Drexel & Co., bankers, and member of the committee for disposal of overseas surplus in the Pacific area after World War II; and Walter W. Tangeman, executive vice president of the Cincinnati Milling Machine Co., and president of the University of Cincinnati Research Foundation.

The staff director was Gerald S. Wise, chairman of the advisory committee to the Maryland State Commission for Administrative Reorganization of the State Government.

New Home For Officers' Unit Of Signal School

The Officers' Department of The Signal School at Ft. Monmouth, N. J., will be moved from its present temporary buildings to a completely rehabilitated Squier Hall, formerly part of the Signal Corps Engineering Laboratories. Occupancy of the new quarters is expected about 1 July.

The move will constitute the fourth recent major improvement in Signal Corps operational facilities throughout the country.

Other recent developments include the establishment of an Electronic Warfare Center at Ft. Huachuca, Ariz.; construction of a new consolidated Research and Development Laboratory in the Camp Wood area of Ft. Monmouth, and completion of facilities for the housing and instruction of The Signal School's Enlisted Department.

The most important feature of the new move will be the inclusion of all Officers' Department facilities under one roof. As a result, the school expects to provide a highly improved training program to officers and thereby facilitate increased communications support in the Army.

Adj. Gen. Asso. Meets 25-27 April In District

The annual conference of the Adjutants General Association will be held 25-27 April in the Hotel Mayflower, Washington, D. C.

Principal speakers will include Carter L. Burgess, Assistant Secretary of Defense for Manpower and Personnel; Lt. Gen. Leon W. Johnson, USAF, Commander of the Continental Air Command; Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin, USA, Deputy Chief of Staff for Plans and Research, Department of the Army; Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Director of Selective Service; Maj. Gen. Ellard A. Walsh, President of the National Guard Association of the United States; and Maj. Gen. Edgar C. Erickson, Chief of the National Guard Bureau.

Principal topics for discussion scheduled include armory construction, funds for support of the National Guard, the National Reserve Plan now before Congress, the Reserve Officers Personnel Act, the State Guard and other general items of interest to Guardsmen.

Lt. Col. Cook To Greece

Lt. Col. Gordon W. Cook, USA, recently appointed Quartermaster Supply Officer at Utah General Depot, Ogden, has been assigned as chief of the Quartermaster Division in Athens, Greece.

Colonel Cook will report for embarkation by air on 2 May. He will be accompanied by his wife and four children.

AIR CONDITIONING SET FOR ARMY CHAPELS

Chapels at 10 installations in the Third Army Area are now being air conditioned, while eight other chapels will be air conditioned at an early date, Lt. Gen. A. R. Bolling, USA, Commanding General, has announced.

Chapels now being air conditioned are located at the Atlanta, Ga., General Depot, Ft. Benning, Ga., Ft. Bragg, N. C., Ft. Campbell, Ky., Camp Gordon, Ga., Ft. Jackson, S. C., Ft. McClellan, Ala., Redstone Arsenal, Huntsville, Ala., Camp Rucker, Ala., and Camp Stewart, Ga.

In addition to these, funds have been made available for air conditioning a chapel at Benning, two at Bragg, and one at Campbell, Gordon, Jackson, McPherson, Ga., and Rucker. Work on these chapels will get under way soon.

Gen. Smythe Heads Formosa Army MAAG

Maj. Gen. George W. Smythe, USA, Deputy Commander of the Second Army at Ft. Meade, Md., since September 1953, will leave the U. S. late next month to take command of the Army MAAG on Formosa.

He will assume direction of this top MAAG post in July, replacing Maj. Gen. William C. Chase, USA-Ret., who reached statutory retirement age of 60 (plus 35-and-5) in March.

General Chase has been on Formosa since May 1951.

His successor, General Smythe, 55, was graduated from West Point in 1924. During the fighting in Korea, he commanded the 24th and Third Infantry Divisions.

SHARPER SHOTS

Basic trainee marksmanship at Ft. Dix, N. J. sharpened, according to Lt. Col. John C. Dunlop, Jr., USA, chief of the G3 section of the 69th Infantry Division.

During the first quarter of 1955, 86 per cent of the recruits qualified with their basic Infantry weapons, a six per cent increase over 1954. Only 73 per cent passed the marksmanship tests in 1953.

Col. David Crocker G-2 For V Corps In Germany

Col. David R. Crocker, USA, has been assigned to Hq V Corps in Germany as G-2.

A 1940 USMA graduate, he commanded the 373d Armored Infantry Battalion at Wildflecken from May 1954 until his reassignment to the V Corps staff.

Gen. Peckham Honored

Maj. Gen. Howard L. Peckham, USA, Chief of the Army and Air Force Exchange Service, was presented 20 April with a brotherhood award of the National Conference of Christians and Jews for "his distinguished service to the cause of human relations." The presentation was made by Herbert A. Kent, chairman of the P. Lorillard Co., at the annual dinner of the Tobacco, Candy and Allied Industries at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, New York, for the benefit of the Conference.

SAC Civilian Chief

Col. S. D. McElroy, USAF, Director of Personnel for the Strategic Air Command, has named Paul V. McKenna to be Chief of Civilian Personnel, succeeding the late Robert N. Groover.

Mr. McKenna will be responsible for more than 14,000 civilians employed by SAC.

"LITTLE HARVARD" EXPANDS

The Army's Command Management School at Ft. Belvoir, Va., whose three week classes are patterned after the famed Harvard Advancement Management Course, is being expanded to include representation from all the Services.

Capt. Carlton C. Lucas, USN, head of the Aircraft Maintenance Branch, Bureau of Aeronautics, is now a student in the fifth class.

It is expected that future classes will include ranking Air Force, Marine Corps and Coast Guard officers.

Continue $100 Dr. Pay Pentagon Asks Congress

The Defense Department has asked Congress to continue the $100 monthly incentive pay for physicians, dentists and veterinarians in the Armed Forces, with one exception.

The Pentagon says that after 30 June 1955, the special pay should not go to such persons as are obligated for service under the Universal Military Training and Service Act, unless they volunteer for a minimum of one year's active service beyond that for which they are obligated.

Here is the Defense Department's official explanation of the purpose of the proposed legislation:

"THIS SPECIAL PAY is designed primarily to provide an incentive to physicians, dentists, and veterinarians who choose the uniformed services as a career by lessening the disparity between the earnings of doctors in the uniformed services and the earnings of their counterparts in civilian life.

"In addition this special pay will aid in compensating for the expenses of re-establishing practice upon release from active duty in the case of those older professional personnel who are required to serve in the Armed Forces under the authority to draft medical, dental, and allied specialists under the provisions of section 4 (1) of the Universal Military Training and Service Act and the Act of 9 September, 1950, as amended, (Doctor Draft Law.)

"As indicated above, this proposed legislation makes a distinction with respect to doctors who enter on active duty after 30 June, 1955, between those who are vulnerable for military service under the regular draft and those who are vulnerable solely under the Doctor Draft Act.

"IT IS BELIEVED that young doctors who enter on active duty after 30 June, 1955, who would be required to serve for two years in the Armed Forces under the regular draft on the same basis as all other young males in the United States—even if they were not doctors and even if there were no Doctor Draft Act—should not be entitled to the benefits of special pay unless they volunteer for a period of active duty at least one year greater than the period all young males are required to serve.

"Conversely, it is believed that the older doctors who are not required to serve in the Armed Forces under the regular draft and who, solely on the basis of their profession, have been singled out for military service by the Doctor Draft Act from among all other older males in the United States, should be entitled to the benefits of special pay."

Col. Illig To USMA

Col. James M. Illig, QMC, USA, will be relieved from duty as student at the Industrial College for the Armed Forces, Ft. McNair, Washington, D. C. and assigned to duty at the U. S. Military Academy, effective 27 June.

Col. Robert C. Kyser, QMC, USA, another student at the Industrial College, has been assigned to duty in the office of the Secretary of Defense, Washington, D. C., effective that date.

Col. John D. Martz, jr., QMC, USA, former Chief of the Memorial Division, OQMG, and at present a student at the Industrial College, has been assigned to duty as Deputy Commander, Quartermaster Research and Development Command, Natick, Mass., effective 27 June.

Army Studies Infantry Division Changes, Armored Changes Must Await Test Results

The Army is analyzing results of recent field tests at Ft. Benning, Ga., to determine what changes are necessary in infantry divisions to meet nuclear warfare requirements.

Because a similar test with armored units at Ft. Hood, Tex., was not completed, major changes in armored divisions must be held up until maneuvers are completed—probably next fall.

This was the report of Brig. Gen. Louis V. Hightower, USA, Chief, Organization and Training Division, G-3, in an address on 19 April to Reserve Officers in the Washington, D.C., area.

General Hightower, outlining plans for Sage Brush, the large-scale free maneuver this year, said that simulated atomic weapons will be used by both sides, with the aggressor holding numerical superiority.

Indicating the scope of this maneuver, General Hightower said that it will include 17 troop tests.

In a forecast of future Army troop organization, the G-3 expert said that "the precise reorganization necessary for atomic war has not yet been determined."

He added: "however, we do know that the organizational structure must lend itself readily to dispersion in defense and rapid exploitation of atomic weapons in the attack. The structures within the division, particularly, should be cellular like so that any one component can suffer heavy damage without the integrity and effectiveness of the division being critically affected."

Army Navy Air Force Journal 1001
23 April 1955

"This means a trend toward smaller, highly mobile battle-groups of combined arms, with a high communication capability, air transportable, possessed of tremendous fire power, and capable of tactical mobility and speed. The helicopter and the convertiplane will serve to advance and support units by vertical envelopment and air LOCs.

"New logistical as well as tactical concepts and techniques must be developed and tested. The actual combat zone will have increased depth, and a military vacuum will lie between that zone and the very distant base areas which provide logistical support.

"Our Army organization must have the capability of being at the time and place when needed, and the flexibility and mobility to move to another area of decision when required."

Today we're at peace... and the strong right arm of this man can help to keep us there.

He's 'Tac Air'! And in addition to his time-honored role of providing air superiority and air support for ground operations, this man now has new and greater responsibilities.

Increased mobility and today's lightweight thermonuclear weapons mean that the Tactical Air Arm can now carry a war to the enemy anywhere in the world—around the clock and in any weather.

Today, a major part of Martin's development effort is geared to the top-level thinking on problems of the new Tactical Air Arm's arsenal.

NEW USNA GYM

A contract for laying the foundation for the U. S. Naval Academy's new gymnasium has been let to William T. Lyons Company of Baltimore, Md., which submitted the lowest bid of $153,000.

Construction began this week and probably will be completed 18 July. Prior to the bidding, the job had been estimated at $213,000.

A second contract for the extension of utilities was advertised 4 April and bids will be opened on 3 May. Bidding on a third contract for the gym structure will begin 24 May. However, work on neither of these two projects is expected to begin until after the first week in June.

Navy Prep School Exams Scheduled For 5 July

Preliminary examinations for assignment to the U. S. Naval Preparatory School, Bainbridge, Md., will be given to eligible Navy and Marine Corps EM on 5 July.

Candidates are given about six months of instruction to prepare for the U. S. Naval Academy entrance examinations which will be held the fourth Wednesday of March 1956. Navy Secretary Charles S. Thomas is authorized to select 160 of the men who stand highest on the March examination.

Regular Navy and Marine Corps EM and their Reserve components on active duty before 1 July are eligible to compete for a shot at the Academy tests.

PatRon One Returns, Circling The Globe

Navy Patrol Squadron One, which has been assigned to Formosa patrol duty since November 1954, is enroute to its home base at NAS Whidbey Island, Wash.

In making the move, the Squadron, commanded by Cdr. Irving A. Kittel, USN, will become the first Navy PatRon to complete a flight around the world.

The 12 Lockheed P2V Neptune patrol planes are making the flight in four sections of three planes each. The first section left Okinawa on 18 April and its itinerary, followed at 24 hour intervals by the three other sections, is as follows:

Sangley Pt., P. I. . . . . 19 April
Singapore . . . . . 20 April
Ceylon . . . . . 21 April
Dhahran, Arabia . . . . . 23 April
Naples, Italy . . . . . 24 April
Port Lyautey, French Morocco . . . . . 27 April
Azores . . . . . 28 April
NAS Quonset Pt., R. I. . . . . 29 April
NAS Hutchinson, Kansas . . . . . 2 May

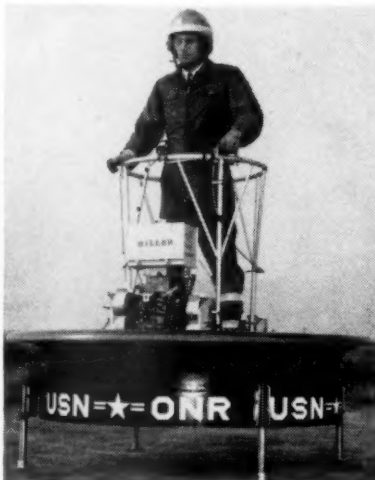

At NAS Hutchinson, the sections will regroup and the entire squadron is expected to reach its home base on 5 May.

Commander Kittel pointed out that during the past several months of flying patrol missions over Formosan waters, the squadron had logged over 1,300 per month with a total of 1,200,000 accident-free miles.

In order of take-off the four three-plane sections were led by Cdr. John N. Phelps, USN, Squadron Executive Officer; LCdr. Walter F. Marshall, USN, Squadron Administrative Officer; LCdr. Joseph W. Allen, jr., USN, Squadron Operations Officer; and Commander Kittel, Commanding Officer.

NEXT WEEK'S JOURNAL

Need for action to improve housing conditions at major Marine Corps bases in the U. S. will be described in a special housing report in next week's issue of The Journal.

THE NAVY'S NEW "FLYING PLATFORM," designed and built by Hiller Helicopters, Palo Alto, Calif. The unusual, wingless craft is powered by two engines which rotate propellers in opposite directions. This action sucks air through holes in the platform, thus creating a downward thrust which supplies the vertical lift. The pilot maneuvers the craft by shifting his weight.

CURRENT
EXCEED

ON AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE

Sounds like a big saving on standard automobile insurance . . . and it is.

Almost six million dollars were paid in dividends last year to USAA members on 282,843 policies. During its 33 years over 75 million dollars have been paid out in claims and returned in savings on policies.

Last year USAA automobile policyholders located in the States saved 44% of the standard manual premiums.

USAA was organized in 1922 by Army officers as a non-profit organization to make available automobile insurance at cost. The company has always been managed by active and retired officers of the Armed Forces.

USAA dividends are liberal because losses are kept down. Membership is open to active and retired commissioned and warrant officers of the U.S. Armed Forces . . . a preferred risk group.

USAA dividends are liberal because operating costs are kept down. Selling is done by mail. There are no agents' commissions to pay, or branch office overhead to meet.

Each year more and more Armed Forces officers turn to USAA for automobile and household effects insurance. Nearly 25% more policies were in force in 1954 than in the previous year.

USAA has enjoyed a healthy growth since it was established. Today it is the oldest, largest and strongest non-profit organization serving officers of the U.S. Armed Forces with automobile insurance.

USAA operates in the United States, its possessions and territories; Canada, Cuba and the Canal Zone; Japan, the Philippines, and certain U.S. military bases in the Pacific, as well as in Western Continental Europe. Claims are settled promptly even in the most out-of-the-way places.

When its time to insure . . . insure with confidence . . . give yourself the best, and save, too. Insure with USAA!

USAA policies are sold by mail. For information on how USAA can serve you, fill in and mail coupon. No matter whether you're stateside, overseas or on orders, USAA is as close as your nearest mailbox, telephone or telegraph office. Your USAA insurance becomes effective as of postmarked time of application, unless a later date is specified.

12 Senior Officers Shift In West ADF

Changes of assignment for 12 senior officers in his command are announced by Maj. Gen. Walter E. Todd, USAF, Western Air Defense Force commander, at Hamilton AFB, Calif.

The changes will become effective in June and July.

Col. Wilton H. Earle, USAF, commander at Oxnard AFB, Calif., will assume command of Hamilton. He will be succeeded by Col. Edwin F. Carey, USAF, presently Air Defense Command liaison officer at Lincoln Laboratory, Lexington, Mass.

Col. George F. Anderson, USAF, Hamilton base commander, and Col. Phillip H. Greasley, USAF, vice commander of the 28th Air Division which also is based at Hamilton, will leave for the National War College in July while Col. George J. LaBreche, USAF, now assistant deputy for operations, WADF, will enter the Industrial College of the Armed Forces at the same time.

Col. Thomas L. Hayes, USAF, returning from a European assignment in June, will succeed Colonel LaBreche, and Col. John W. Mitchell, USAF director of operations, 28th Air Division, will move into Colonel Greasley's position as vice commander.

Col. Henry S. Tyler, USAF director combat operations, 28th Air Division, will replace Colonel Mitchell, and will be succeeded by Col. Edgar B. Gravette, USAF, who has been his assistant.

Col. Klem F. Kalberer, USAF, Hamilton vice commander, will become director of combat operations for the 25th Air Division at McChord AFB, Wash., and will be replaced at Hamilton by Col. William D. Harris, USAF, present assistant deputy for materiel, WADF.

Col. Houston W. Longino, USAF, commander at McChord, will become vice commander of the Air Defense Command Experimental Wing, at Lexington, Mass. His successor at McChord has not been announced.

Col. Fred Hook Heads Otis Air Defense Unit

Col. Fred G. Hook, USAF, has assumed command of the 564th Air Defense Group and Otis AFB, Mass.

The colonel came from Cuba, where he was Chief of the U.S. Air Force Mission since March 1951. In addition to his duties as Mission Chief, he also was Acting Chief of the Military Assistance Advisory Group in Cuba, a position he held from the inception of MAAG-Cuba in July 1952.

The colonel is married to the former Jewel Grear. They and their three year old daughter, Linda Maria, will make their home at 16 Pond Road, Falmouth, Mass.

CONVAIR's supersonic F-102A shows off its delta wing in this first flight photograph. The all-weather, day-or-night jet interceptor is being built for the Air Force by Convair Division of General Dynamics Corporation at its San Diego, Calif., plant. Streamlined fairings on the after end of the longer fuselage, a pilot's canopy redesigned for greater visibility, and cambered leading edges for the delta wing distinguish the F-102A from its prototypes. A Pratt and Whitney J-57 jet engine with afterburner powers the F-102A.

Air Reserve Officers Get Training Chance

A Squadron Officer Orientation Course for 500 company grade Air Force Reserve officers not-on-active duty will be held at the Air Command and Staff College, Maxwell AFB, Ala., 1-12 Aug., Continental Air Command Headquarters has announced.

The course curriculum covers 72 hours—about two weeks temporary duty.

The Squadron Officer Orientation Course is intended to broaden the Reserve officer's USAF knowledge in relation to today's world situation and to motivate pursuit of professional education and personal improvement, ConAC said.

Continental Air Command's First Air Force, at Mitchel AFB, N. Y., has been allotted a quota of 135 Air Reserve Lieutenants and Captains for the Squadron Officer Orientation Course. Fourth AF, at Hamilton AFB, Calif., has been allotted 105 officers; Tenth AF, at Selfridge AFB, Mich., 120 officers; and Fourteenth AF, at Robins AFB, Ga., 140 officers.

CONAC's numbered Air Forces are establishing their own individual application deadlines for the Orientation course.

Air Reserve company grade officers, not-on-active-duty, who are interested in the Squadron Officer Orientation course, may apply at their local Reserve units.

In applying it will be necessary for them to complete Air Force Form 12 89—"Application for Active Duty."

AF "GROUND WORK" PAYS OFF ON TABLES

More than 200,000 pounds of fresh produce were grown last year on the base farm at Ernest Harmon AFB, Newfoundland.

Potatoes accounted for 186,000 pounds of the vegetables grown. Other produce included beets, onions, peas, cabbage, turnips, squash, cucumbers, tomatoes, and radishes. The food was used to supplement the fresh produce in the dining halls and base commissary.

Harmon is one of the few bases in the Air Force which has a farm and a greenhouse. Planting has already begun in the greenhouse for this year's crops, with seeds planted for cabbage and cauliflower. When the weather gets milder, the young plants will be transferred to cold frames outside which allow the plants to acclimate themselves to the cold weather.

Seven SAC Bases Give ROTC Training

Approximately 3,500 future second lieutenants, presently third-year college students participating in the AFROTC program, will train at seven Strategic Air Command bases this summer.

This announcement is made by Lt. Col. A. W. Postelle, USAF chief of the ground training branch of SAC's Directorate of Operations.

SAC bases conducting encampments, and their camp commanders, are: Fairchild AFB, Wash., Lt. Col. Warren C. Stirling; Davis-Monthan AFB, Ariz., Col. William W. Jones; Hunter AFB, Ga., Col. John E. Carmack; Bergstrom AFB, Tex., Col. Jack C. Berger; MacDill AFB, Fla., Lt. Col. Sylvan D. Hand; March AFB, Calif., Lt. Col. Robert E. Mills; and Ellsworth AFB, S. D., Col. William L. Herbin.

Each base will conduct two successive four-week encampments, the first beginning 19 June, followed by a second scheduled to begin 24 July at all bases except Davis-Monthan AFB. Davis-Monthan's second encampment will start 17 July.

Heaviest emphasis of the 196 hours will be devoted to orientation in all phases of air operations including piloting, navigation and radar operations. At least one 30-minute jet flight is planned for each cadet in addition to flights in other SAC aircraft, where each man will participate as a crew member and rotate among the various crew positions.

SAC Steps Up B-36 Simulator Training

Five Air Force crews instead of three will be trained daily in B-36 Simulators at Carswell AFB, Tex.

The stepped-up program was directed by the Strategic Air Command, which ordered that the B-36 Simulators be used for a total of 17½ hours daily.

Daily utilization of 17½ hours is one of the highest use figures ever reported for any type of equipment delivered to the Air Force. The B-36 Simulator is an all-electronic device developed by the Electronics Division of the Curtiss-Wright Corporation.

A typical new program provides for a crew briefing from 8:30 a.m. to 9 a.m., flight training in the Simulator from then until 12:30, a one-hour break for lunch, a critique of the crew's performance in the Simulator from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m., and an examination for the crew in the briefing room from 2:30 to 5:30.

463d TC Wing to Get First Fairchild C-123's

The first Fairchild C-123 assault transports will be delivered in May to the 18th Air Force's 463d Troop Carrier Wing at Ardmore, Okla.

This aircraft is the first of its type to be assigned to an Air Force tactical unit. The Ardmore wing, commanded by Brig. Gen. Cecil H. Childre, USAF, has organized the 16th Troop Carrier Squadron (Assault) to operate the new twin-engine planes.

Fairchild will build more than 150 C-123's under an Air Force contract awarded to the Maryland firm in October 1953. The first two production models of the assault transport were delivered last fall to the Air Research and Development Command for testing at Edwards AFB, Calif., just a year after receipt of the initial production contract.

Navigation Institute Plans Air Univ. Sessions

The 11th annual meeting of the Institute of Navigation will be held 23-25 June at the Air University, Maxwell AFB, Ala.

Individuals and organizations interested in presenting papers of scientific or general interest or in displaying exhibits of equipment are invited to contact the Program Chairman, Maj. Percy L. Jones, USAF, 3527 N. Military Road, Arlington 7, Va.

Papers scheduled to be presented at the meeting will cover theoretical and practical aspects of civil and military navigation, ranging from items of interest to the small boat navigator to the problems of interplanetary navigation.

PEPPERRELL AFB.—The 6601st Support Squadron held "Field Day" when three members of the Squadron were honored at this Northeast Air Command Base. S/Sgt. Bob Becker, left, was chosen as NCO of the Month; M/Sgt. Fred Smits, center, elected to a six-month term as president of Pepperrell's Toastmaster Club, and S/Sgt. Earl Parker, chosen NCO Leadership School Honor Student.

Operation Pyote Reunion

All Air Force officers who were at any time stationed permanently at Pyote Army AB during WW II are advised of a reunion to be held at the Palmer House, Chicago, Ill., 17, 18 and 19 June. All interested persons are urged to contact Dr. William S. McMurtry, 414-16 Commerce Bldg., Okmulgee, Okla.

TAC Gets Set For 800 ROTC Cadets

Four Tactical Air Command bases will conduct summer encampments for more than 800 AFROTC cadets during June and July.

They will come from colleges and universities in the southern states and will report 19 June for 28 days training at Alexandria AFB, La.; Donaldson AFB, S. C.; Sewart AFB, Tenn.; and Langley AFB, Va., TAC headquarters.

Camp commanders and liaison officers for the TAC bases are: Alexandria AFB, Lt. Col. Frederick R. Bates, commander, and Lt. Col. Ernest L. Kerr, Louisiana Polytechnic Institute; Donaldson AFB, Col. Joseph E. Habeger, commander, and Col. Lloyd H. Tull, Clemson Agriculture College; Langley AFB, Lt. Col. Kenneth E. Kay, commander, and Lt. Col. Thomas J. Clark, University of Richmond; Sewart AFB, Col. William Lewis, commander, and Major Dudley M. Watson, Tennessee A&I State University.

LT. GEN. JOSEPH SMITH, MATS Commander, (right) receives the Daedalian Trophy for 1954 from Maj. Gen. Howard G. Bunker (left), representing the Chief of Staff, USAF, in ceremonies at Kelly AFB, Tex. Pleased onlookers are Maj. Gen. Clements McMullen, USAF-Ret., (second from left), wing commander of the Daedalians, and General George C. Kenney, USAF-Ret. The coveted flying safety trophy is awarded annually to the major Air Force command flying over 100,000 hours with the lowest adjusted accident rate.

Chaplain Mouw Honored

Special Protestant services were held 17 April at Mather AFB, Calif., in honor of the 25th anniversary of the ordination of Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Gerritt E. Mouw, USAF.

Colonel Mouw, wing chaplain at Mather since 1951, was ordained a Presbyterian minister at Princeton University in 1930. He was commissioned a first lieutenant in the Army Chaplains Corps four years later.

Colonel Mouw will report to Manhattan Beach, N. Y., in July for assignment to USAFE. His forthcoming assignment will occasion his 49th crossing of the Atlantic Ocean.

More Regulars Needed. Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson's plan to ask Congressional authorization for an appreciable increase in the number of Regular Officers in the Armed Services (THE JOURNAL 16 April) is an excellent one which, if carried out, will boost morale and efficiency in the Defense Forces.

Present ceilings of 27,500 in the Air Force and 30,600 in the Army result in a ratio of roughly four Reserve officers to one Regular. The Navy and Marine Corps fare somewhat better, but still need more Regulars.

A great number of the Reserves currently on active duty are to all intents and purposes career officers. They have been on active duty long enough so that ties in their previous civilian occupations have been broken. They look upon the Services as their life's career, yet by being denied the right to apply for Regular commissions they lack the security of a permanent commission and serve under the apprehension that their life's work can be shut off at the whim of Congress or the Department.

Mr. Wilson believes that about half of the officers should be Regulars. In light of world conditions, it seems to us that this is a modest percentage. There is certainly no one who believes that a cut-back to a point where such a figure would create excesses will be possible in the foreseeable future.

It is to be expected, of course, that the Pentagon's plan for expanding the Regular Establishment will be so designed that the present "hump" problems, notably in the Air Force, will not be aggravated. This is essential lest careers of present Regular officers be put in jeopardy.

The Bureau of the Budget, which has repeatedly put up bars against any substantial increase in Regular officers, is really not in a position to judge the military needs. When the word comes from President Eisenhower (and there is every reason to believe it imminent), the road will be cleared for this genuine improvement in the Armed Services.

Housing Outlook Up. The $2.3 billion Public Works Bill which the Defense Department has sent to Congress carries $254.9 million for construction of 17,000 family units in the United States and authorizes a further $75 million for overseas housing, the latter to come out of the Surplus Agricultural Commodity Program.

The most encouraging fact in this housing allotment is that the Department's letter of transmittal, which of course speaks for the Administration, states that this will be "the initial stage of a long range program" for family housing for the Services and adds that such housing is "urgently needed."

Thus, it would seem, the long period of years in which it had been the policy to build no government quarters but to depend entirely on private housing with guaranteed rentals is at an end. Wherry Housing is and has been of enormous value to the Services. Under that Act, many thousands of units were made available where none had been in sight previously. However, it had serious shortcomings, notably in its inability to furnish suitable quarters to the families of junior commissioned and non-commissioned officers at rates anywhere near their rental allowances. Another weakness of the Wherry Act from the standpoint of the government is that the rental allowances spent on that type of housing are a complete loss, whereas in government housing the forfeiture of quarters allowances helps the government amortize its construction program and, after a given number of years, makes the forfeiture of allowances a total savings to the United States, while at the same time providing adequate quarters to Service families.

A most heartening phase of the new program is the additional $75 million of Surplus Agricultural Commodity funds being made available for Service housing overseas. With the $25 million already earmarked this makes a total of $100 million which may now be used to put our families overseas in suitable quarters. This can mean a great deal in such places as England and France where practically no suitable housing is available. Already there are firms in England prepared to get housing developments underway in time for

Life In England

Editor, THE JOURNAL:

I have just finished reading the account of the testimony given by three service wives before the House Military Pay Committee in the 12 March issue of THE JOURNAL. It seems a hopeless situation and personally I find it rather disgusting to discover that it is necessary to beg for and justify salary increases when it is known that the legislative body which requires such lengthy debate has just granted themselves a considerable pay raise with a minimum length of time, and a minimum amount of publicity, and has for some time drawn travel allowance of $.25 per mile. I wonder how Mrs. Lydia A. Bell would react to the comparison between her allowance for moving and that granted members of the House and Senate.

You have received numerous letters relating conditions and hardships experienced by service personnel and families; however to my knowledge none have given specific information about conditions in England. I was stationed there for 26 months. I am not exaggerating when I state it was the most miserable assignment in my military career. Quarters were most inadequate, the average room for female officers was 8' x 12', no closet space so wooden racks with a cross bar were built. Furniture consisted of a bed, a small desk with shelves which sufficed for a writing desk and bureau, and an armchair. There was no storage room for trunks or luggage so these had to be kept in the owner's room. Rather crowded! Second Lts., First Lts., and Captains were assigned these accommodations. For the first year, there was no heat or hot water in quarters. It was necessary to heat all water for laundry, cleaning and baths in buckets on the kitchen stove and carry the buckets down the hall to the bathroom or laundry. We had to buy electric heaters in order to keep our rooms livable.

Add to this the many grievances associated with duty in a foreign country, and you may begin to understand why none of us who had duty in England would return there if it was at all possible to escape it. One incident of many was the surcharge added to special orders made in AF Exchanges. Until May 1954, a 10% service charge was added to the cost of any special order, which was standard at all Exchanges in Europe and considered fair; in May 1954, this surcharge was increased to 33-1/3% at AF Exchanges in England; not at the Navy Exchange in London or the Exchanges in Europe. We had our own suspicions of the reason for this increase but no choice other than to pay it or discontinue making special orders. From my own experience, I could purchase Harris tweeds directly from the Outer Hebrides at $1.10-1.25 per yard, while the civilian concession in the Exchange charged $3.00-3.50 per yard for the equivalent. This was true of almost all English products sold in AF Exchanges. We are not allowed to have PX gas stations in England and must pay $.65 per gallon for gas.

I don't feel an obligation to fight the pay problems of the Generals and Admirals in our service, but to continually belittle their contributions and performance of duty, and to fail to give them commensurate pay increases for the responsibilities they must assume is hardly fair. A comparison between these ranks in our services, and opposite ranks in British Services is enlightening.

I have too much time invested and too many responsibilities to be able to leave the service and start all over again. In this respect, I resent the diminishing benefits and returns to those with increased service, especially when it is publicly announced that service personnel with longevity will have to accept shortchanging rather than to lose invested time. Also included are the arbitrary changes in the contract we had with the government as members of Regular Army, Navy, and Air Force; benefits explicitly agreed upon were cancelled without any opportunity on our part to accept or reject the substitutes or resign from the service.

CAPT. USAF.

Editor, THE JOURNAL:

We wish to thank you for publishing our letter in the 12 Feb. issue of your publication. It may interest you to know that as a result, Rear Admiral John D. Hayes has written to us requesting these volumes which are vital to his research endeavors in conducting a study of the Charleston campaign during the Civil War.

occupancy by next winter (provided the necessary contractual relationships can be worked out in time). Word from Europe, notably USAFE's excellent report on its "Operation Stockholder," reveals the damage that is being done to morale by the wholly inadequate housing situation in England and France. The ultimate goal of concurrent travel depends entirely on the availability of housing, and at present there is no prospect of achieving it, except in Germany, where considerable progress has been made with Deutschemarks.

With the enactment of the pay bill giving some measure of help, housing now has become the most important one factor in the career incentive program. We hope Congress recognizes this and gives high priority to this most vital measure.

IN THE JOURNAL

10 Years Ago—After working six weeks in the ruins of Aachen, Ordnance troops are still finding huge stores of German ammunition and weapons in cellars, yards and public buildings. According to a report received this week from First Army Headquarters in Germany three tons of shells were found in one residence, 16 tons in a hotel, and one plot of ground about 100 feet square disclosed ten S mines and 44 Teller mines. Enemy forces holding Aachen had no central ammunition dumps and spread their supply throughout the city preparatory to house-to-house fighting.

50 Years Ago—Military charts, the size of a man's palm, from reduced photographs of ordnance maps, are shortly to be issued, fitted with powerful pocket lenses, to officers of the German army.

90 Years Ago—The surrender of General Lee is followed by the voluntary surrender of most of the regular troops of the enemy of the Shenandoah. On the 15th, Lieutenant Colonel Farrell of Mosby's command came, under flag of truce, to our picket lines on the Kernstown Road. He arranged with General Hancock to surrender the forces of Mosby on the terms accorded to General Lee, his troops being recognized as a part of the Army of Northern Virginia. On the 17th, at noon, Colonel Mosby surrendered his forces to General Chapman, at Berryville, receiving the terms granted to Lee. It is reported that General Rosser has also asked that his command be included in the cartel.

Major Changes At Marine Corps Schools; Boost Basic School From 22 To 26 Weeks

A MAJOR shift in the organization of the Marine Corps Schools has been put into effect at Quantico, Va.

In addition, training time for completion of the School's Basic Course has been jumped from 22 to 26 weeks.

The entire Basic School—largest single course—has just been shifted to nearby Camp Upshur, with the result that the Headquarters Staff, Instructors and basic student officers have been brought together under a single command. The Basic School is headed by Col. Lewis W. Walt, USMC, and is an element of the Base's Educational Center, commanded by Maj. Gen. Robert O. Bare, USMC.

Lt. Gen. Thomas

Brig. Gen. Bare

The move was begun when Lt. Gen. Gerald C. Thomas, USMC, Commandant, Marine Corps Schools, activated the Training and Test Regiment to handle the training of the Platoon Leaders Class, the Officer Candidate Course, and the Naval Reserve Officer Training Corps.

Activation of the regiment separated newly-commissioned basic school lieutenants from pre-basic students.

Following this shift, the training of successful graduates of the pre-basic course was then assigned to the re-organized Basic School as its sole mission. Previously, the Basic School conducted both phases of officer training.

Among the benefits students will derive from the move, according to Marine officials, is direct control of all Basic School activities by the commanding officer. The company officers of the training companies are now under his control. This means a much closer liaison between instructors and company officers since the instructors are no longer on a total time commitment due to the elimination of a 32-mile trip formerly required from the old headquarters to places of instruction.

At the same time, necessary individual instruction will be available to students.

In the headquarters staff of the Basic School, Lt. Col. John W. Antonelli, USMC, continues as Executive Officer, and 1st Lt. George S. Murray, USMC, as Adjutant.

Marine officials also point out that since the companies are administered on a "direct" basis, elimination of the former battalion headquarters will result in large savings in personnel.

The Basic School's Academic Section, a unit of S-3 section, is headed by Lt. Col. John M. McLaughlin, USMC. He is assisted by Lt. Col. John D. Noble, USMC. Other units within the section are: Tactics Section, headed by Maj. Kenneth L. Houghton, USMC; Operations and Training, under Capt. William P. Cosgrove, USMC; Weapons Section, headed by Capt. William F. Doehler, USMC; Intelligence Section, led by Maj. Elbert F. Veuleman, USMC; and the General Subjects Section, headed by Maj. James F. McClanahan, USMC.

The Instructional Analysis Section of the school is composed of Majors Frank H. Brinkman, USMC, and Ralph E. June, USMC, and Capt. Clifford E. McCullum, USMC.

Maj. David V. Corter, USMC, heads the S-1 Section and is assisted by Capt. William M. Van Zuyen, USMC, and 1st Lt. Fred Holl, USMC.

The Headquarters and Service Company, one of the largest of its type in the Marine Corps with a roster of more than 700, is commanded by Maj. A. M. Jones, USMC. The S-4 Logistics Section of the Basic School is headed by Maj. B. J. Frankovic, USMC.

Considerable "shaking down" is yet to be done in the new headquarters building and the adjacent area. The transition from old headquarters at Brown Field to the new one at Camp Upshur, however, was accomplished without the loss of a single man-hour of instruction time to students.

Concurrent with the shift of the Basic School, it was decided to jump the number of weeks required for completion of the Basic Course by four, from 22 to 26. The longer course will include more material on Marine Corps Administration and field tactics, while the basic course post graduate program will be discontinued.

The first class of Basic Course officers to receive the additional instruction will be those who attend Course 2-55 which is scheduled to convene on 27 June.

There are seven major types of courses offered at Quantico's Marine Corps Schools Command. They are: Officer Candidate Course (OCC); Platoon Leaders Class (PLC); Naval Reserve Officer Training Course (NROTC); Women Officers Training Class (WOTC); Women Officers Indoctrination Course (WOIC); Basic Course; Junior Course (preparation of majors and captains for command on a battalion level); and the Senior Course (preparation of lt. colonels and colonels for higher command duties).

The first Junior Course for FY '56 will be convened on 6 September. It is anticipated that the nine-month course will be attended by more than 200 students. Of this number, 175 will be Marine officers in the ground, aviation and supply categories. The remainder will be officers of the other Services and officers of Allied Nations. In past years, the majority of Marines in attendance at the course were Line ground officers.

A brief description of eligibility requirements for entrance into the various courses follows:

OCC

—Is a 10-week program designed for college graduates. Selected candidates are enrolled during their senior year in school or after graduation. In addition, about 25 per cent of the total course membership is usually made up of enlisted Marines who complete college or who pass a series of evaluation tests. The 13th class is now in session and is expected to graduate about 200 officers, as are the three other classes slated for this year and through June 1956.

PLC

—Is the major source of Marine Corps officers and was founded in 1934. Many of the high ranking Marines of today are graduates of the course. Entrants into this course begin preparation while they are still in college and taking a major in subjects other than medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine, theology, pharmacy, music or art. These subjects are not considered, since specialists in these fields are assigned to duty in the Marine Corps from the Navy. Selected students attend the classes during two summer vacations from college; no training periods are required during the school year. While attending the summer classes at Quantico, trainees are given the grade of corporal if they are in their junior year and the grade of sergeant if they are in their senior year. Graduates are commissioned Reserve 2d lieutenants; opportunities also exist for Regular commissions.

NROTC

—this program is entered by taking competitive examinations which are conducted by the Navy's Bureau of Personnel. Those who enroll in the program from any of the 52 accredited schools in this country are eligible to apply for a Marine Corps commission in their sophomore year. After acceptance by the Corps, candidates are sent to Quantico for eight weeks of training. These graduates are given Regular commissions.

WOTC

—Is a six-week course for college sophomores and juniors which is given during two consecutive summers. During the first six-week period, trainees hold the rank of corporal and during the second period the rank of sergeant. Upon graduation, candidates are commissioned in the Reserve.

WOIC

—Is a course designed to indoctrinate all women officers in Service matters before they are assigned. The course is similar to the Basic Course given to male officers, with the exception that emphasis is placed on administration rather than marksmanship and weapons.

BASIC COURSE

—Is a 26-week period of instruction required of all new officers before they are given active duty assignments, regardless of the program from which they entered the Marine Corps—whether from the U. S. Naval Academy, NROTCU, PLC, or OCC. The course is comprised of about 30 subjects; some of the major ones are: Leadership, Tactics, Logistics, UCMJ, Marksmanship with various weapons, Combat Intelligence, and Amphibious Warfare. Training time for the course is about 1,000 hours.

The schedule shown below shows the various courses which are slated to convene between now and April 1956.

NEAC Maintenance Team Set Up For Priority Tasks

A mobile installations preventive maintenance team for high priority jobs in the Northeast Air Command has been organized under the direction of Col. Robert T. Greigg, USAF, NEAC Deputy Chief of Staff for Installations.

The 22-man civilian team will be organized into four specialty groups: plumbing, heating, electrical and carpentry. The group, which will be headed by Mr. Llewellyn C. Hefford, who has been employed by the Air Force for the past 12 years, will operate from Pepperrell AFB, Newfoundland. After a period of familiarization, the unit will branch out from Pepperrell as a mobile group.

The team will work this way. A four-man inspection group will be available to assess urgent installations maintenance work in one of the four categories listed above at various NEAC bases. When the local commander and his staff concur with the findings of the inspection team, the specialty group required will be airlifted to that base where it will work in conjunction with local installation engineers.

The civilian members of the maintenance crew will be hired in the St. John's area. The team will be limited to 22 members, but additional craftsmen will be employed on a temporary basis in situations where extra help is needed.

You'll get special attention from Journal advertisers—they cater to Service personnel.

Legislative Calendar

The following new bills have been introduced in the Congress:

TAX RELIEF FOR POW'S—S 1653, Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.), provides relief for members of the Armed Forces in respect to payment of income taxes while held as POW's by communistic-controlled authorities.

CREDIT FOR INTERN SERVICE—HR 5511, Rep. Lane (D-Mass.), credits to active and retired officers of the Army and AF Medical Department all service performed as interns in Army hospitals on a civilian-employee status.

FIELD CLERK SERVICE—HR 5516, Rep. Murray (D-Ill.), provides that service as an Army field clerk or as a field clerk, QMC, shall be counted for purposes of retirement.

REMOVE PENSION LIMITATIONS—HR 5517, Rep. Reuss (D-Wisc.), removes income limitations which prohibit payment of pension to certain veterans of the Spanish-American War, WWI, WWII and the Korean conflict, and to the widows and children of widows of certain WWI, WWII and Korean veterans.

ADJUSTED COMPENSATION—HR 5555, Rep. Belcher (R-Okla.), provides for payment of adjusted compensation in certain cases involving correction of military or naval records by amending World War Adjusted Compensation Act.

FREE IMPORTATION OF GIFTS—HR 5559, Rep. Cooper (D-Tenn.), make permanent existing privilege of free importation of gifts from members of Armed Services on duty abroad.

INCREASE WIDOWS PENSION—S 1700, Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.), increases monthly rates of pension payable to widows and former widows of deceased veterans of the Spanish-American War, including the Boxer Rebellion and Philippine Insurrection.

INCREASE SCIENTIFIC POSITIONS—S 1703, Sen. Carlson (R-Kans.), increases number of professional and scientific positions authorized for Defense Department.

HONOR CGS COLLEGE—S 1704, Sen. Carlson (R-Kans.), provides for issuance of special postage stamp commemorating establishment of Command and General Staff College, Fort Leavenworth.

SERVICE OATH—HR 5598, Rep. Gross (R-Iowa), provides that individuals enlisted into the Armed Forces shall take an oath to support and defend the Constitution of the U.S.

Bills Approved

POW LEAVE ACCRUAL—S 1600, provides that leave accrued by members of Armed Forces while POWs in Korea shall not be counted in determining maximum amount of leave which they may accumulate.

ALIEN ENLISTMENTS—S 1137, extends authority for enlistment of aliens in the Regular Army.

RETAINER PAY—S 800, repeals act limiting the date of filing claims for retainer pay with respect to Naval and Marine Corps Reservists.

ALASKAN ALLOWANCES—HR 3561, validates station per diem allowances made at Fort Richardson, Alaska and Elmendorf AFB, Alaska during period 31 Jan. 1949 and 13 Oct. 1950.

NEXT WEEK'S JOURNAL

What's the story behind the processing of a piece of military legislation? How does it get started and what are the pitfalls along the way to its enactment?

The 30 April issue of The Journal will trace this process in terms of the pending proposal to add thousands of Regular officers to the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps.

Alexandria AFB Renamed For Lt. Col. England

Alexandria AFB, La., will be renamed 1 May in honor of Lt. Col. John Brooke England, USAF, killed in an F-86 fighter-bomber accident in France last fall. It will be called England AFB.

At the time of his death, Colonel England was commander of the 389th Fighter Bomber Squadron, a component of the 366th Fighter Bomber Wing, which is based at Alexandria. His squadron was the first to go overseas under the Tactical Air Command's rotational training program.

Colonel England was killed while landing at Toul Air Base, France.

His widow, the former Marilyn Ruth Boswell, and her three children, Jeffrey Bruce, Barry Harmon and Carol Yvonne, live at 1916 Simmons Street Alexandria, La. Colonel England's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bidker H. England, live at 600 Leurant Avenue, Caruthersville, Mo.

MEMO For Journal Readers

INTER-SERVICE TRANSFERS are under renewed DoD study. Such legislation has been talked about for a long time, in the interests of efficiency and unification. Many think that authority for transfer of officers from one branch of the Armed Forces to another would cut down on inter-Service rivalry, a problem that has been bothering SecDef Wilson of late.

CHANCES ARE GOOD Congress would say O.K. to inter-Service transfers providing the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines can get together on a plan. That may take a bit of doing.

A BONUS PLAN which would provide fixed incentive sums for EM completing specified years of service --perhaps 10, 15, 20 and 30--is under Pentagon consideration. The new pay raise law means that EM will reach the $2,000 re-up ceiling earlier in their careers. Hence, thought is being given to rewards at later stages.

THE AIR FORCE thinks there may be some merit in the bonus plan and is studying such a proposal. The Navy reportedly is considering a request for elimination of the $2,000 maximum.

TYPICAL OF THE SPIRIT which is going into Operation Gyroscope, the Army's unit rotation plan, is the decision by the 10th Infantry Division at Ft. Riley, Kans., to award $25 prizes to four companies whose dayrooms are spruced up most attractively. The 10th switches places this summer with the 1st Infantry Division in Germany.

GEN. LeMAY'S CONCERN over a recent newspaper article which alleged he was dissatisfied with the B-47 and B-52 because they were "drinking airplanes"--that is they required mid-air refueling for long missions--is noteworthy in the fact that the Navy League is quoting at length from the story. The League does not mention the General's refutation.

WORRIED ABOUT EFFECTS of the erroneous article, Gen. LeMay went to considerable pains to knock down the story, carefully explaining (The Journal 2 April) that the goal always has been construction of aircraft that did not require refueling--atomic powered planes, for example--but that in the interim the B-47 and B-52 were well suited for their assignments. This was the burden of testimony delivered by the General on Capitol Hill.

WITH SECDEF WILSON'S crackdown on discussion of problems that could prompt criticism of inter-Service rivalry, watch for such groups as the Navy League and Air Force Assn. to become increasingly outspoken. Tip-off may come with the League's convention, beginning 4 May at Coronado, Calif.

BLOOD MONEY SAVINGS are being realized at Ft. Knox, Ky. Army Hospital. As part of a campaign to cut down costs, a suggestion was submitted that medical tests be made from a single sample of blood, extracted from a patient at time of admittance. Though a larger sample may be required, it means the patient need face the needle only once.

IN REMARKS WHICH WERE CLEARED under new Defense Dept. directives, Asst. SecDef Frank D. Newbury, Pentagon Applications Engineering chief, has asserted that preparedness "suffers from the short tours of duty of military officers and the absurdly short terms of office of top civilian administrators." SecDef Wilson long ago asked the Service Secretaries to look into the problem of more assignment stability.

AS REGARDS SHORT TOURS of civilian chiefs, it is recalled there was considerable criticism on this score when Mr. Wilson's top lieutenant, Deputy Secretary Roger M. Kyes, left the Pentagon after little more than a year's service. Mr. Newbury noted this week that of the 12 senior civilian members on Mr. Wilson's first staff, only 4 now hold the same jobs, after only two years.

MR. NEWBURY CONTENTS that not enough consideration is being given by promotion selection boards to technical ability and experience of military officers. Seemingly, he is urging a procedure change by SecDef Wilson and the Service Secretaries.

DISARMAMENT COUNSELLOR Harold E. Stassen will have assistance of Service officers. They are Col. Raymond F. Firehock, USA, formerly Research Division Chief; Capt. Donald W. Gladney, jr., USN, formerly assigned to the U. S. Elemental Standing Group, NATO, at the Pentagon; and Col. Benjamin G. Willis, USAF, DCofS, Plans and Operations, Third AF, England, who reports in mid-May for his new duty.

NATIONAL POLIO FOUNDATION officials credit Service families with an important assist in the campaign against once dreaded infantile paralysis. They point out that great sums of money were raised at Service installations around the world during annual March of Dimes campaigns which helped in achievement of the Salk Vaccine.

AN EXAMPLE of this support was the $320,310.13 contributed by U.S. Army Europe personnel to the 1955 MoD drive. Happily, Service children in the U.S. and overseas have been among the first to receive the new vaccine.

THE AIR UNIVERSITY'S efforts to encourage AF personnel to prepare articles for outside publication in order to illuminate the story of airpower and to raise writing standards, will be hard hit by SecDef Wilson's new PubInfo directives. Lt. Gen. Laurence S. Kuter, USAF, Air University chief, has been greatly interested in stimulating preparation of high calibre articles.

SERVICE FAMILIES have top notch representation at the Capitol in the presentation of the case for improved Survivor Benefits. The Career Incentive Act Task Force, headed by RAdm. Elton W. Grenfell, USN, which won Congressional plaudits for its presentation of the pay raise case, is handling the intricate Survivors' legislation.

RETIREMENT INCOME means FINANCIAL PLANNING

Here's why. You're probably putting some money in a savings account now with retirement in mind. BUT . . . did you know that the person who saved a dollar ten years ago now finds that it can buy about half what it could then?

To more and more people a planned investment in dividend paying securities through Mutual Fund shares has done much in offsetting that decline.

In the last several years, thousands of civilians and service personnel have received our counsel on investment planning for extra retirement income. We have helped many to start on the road to a sounder financial future through the planned purchase of Mutual Fund shares. We can help you, too.

For complete information on this sound approach to a more secure financial future, send for our free booklet, "The Modern Way to Invest."

SERVICE FAMILY NOTES

FT. MYER, VA.—A mother and daughter, Mrs. Charles Wagner and Mrs. Louise Wagner, were among nine Red Cross workers honored by the Army when the first group of volunteers to work in the Ft. Myer post dispensary out-patient clinic were capped as grey ladies and presented certificates. The diplomas were presented by Col. Isaiah A. Wiles, commanding officer of the dispensary, to eight of the 12 grey ladies and one of the four staff aides. Those on hand for the presentation were, front row, (left to right) Mrs. Ethel J. Jarvis, Mrs. Louise Burroughs, Mrs. Charles Wagner, Mrs. Margaret Wills, and Mrs. Catherine R. Davies, staff aide. Rear row (left to right) Mrs. Bertil Walstedt, Mrs. Louise Wagner, Mrs. Hilton E. Geohagen, and Mrs. Catherine C. Seaman.

THE Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and Mrs. Arthur Radford have as their house guests the former Assistant Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Artemus L. Gates, for whom they gave a dinner party at the F Street Club Saturday evening.

Among the guests were: Secretary of the Army and Mrs. Stevens, Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Thomas, Admiral and Mrs. Robert Carney, Assistant Secretary of Defense and Mrs. Struve Hensel, Assistant Secretary of Defense and Mrs. Franklin Floete, Undersecretary of the Navy and Mrs. Thomas Gates, Jr., Under Secretary of the Air Force and Mrs. Douglas, Commandant of the Marine Corps and Mrs. Lemuel C. Shepherd, Jr., Assistant Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. James H. Smith, Jr., former Assistant Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. John T. Koehler, Admiral Felix B. Stump and Rear Admiral Luis de Florez.

Honor Mrs. Armstrong & Mrs. Hays—

Mrs. George E. Armstrong, wife of the departing Army Surgeon General, and Mrs. Silas B. Hays, wife of the Deputy Surgeon General, whose appointment to succeed General Armstrong was recently announced, will be honored at a tea on 4 May from 2:30 to 4:30, at the Army Medical Center Officers' Club.

The tea is being sponsored jointly by the Army Medical Service Woman's Club and the Women's Club of the Army Surgeon General's Office, and the following ladies from the two clubs are serving on the various committees: Mrs. Elliott O. Ursin, general chairman; Mrs. J. Sheldon Oartel, co-chairman; Mrs. Leonard D. Heaton and Mrs. C. O. Bruce, special invitations; Mrs. A. L. Gorby and Mrs. H. W. Daine, hospitality; Mrs. J. H. Mackin and Mrs. J. C. Kressler, decorations; Mrs. R. L. Hullinghorst and Mrs. J. B. Coates, refreshments.

All ladies who are eligible for membership in either of the Clubs are cordially invited. Reservations may be made with the office of the Walter Reed Club, RA 3-1000, Ext. 2218, between 25 and 29 April.

The Army Band Trio will provide music during the tea.

Miss Twining Is Queen—

Today, 23 April, is the coronation day of Miss Olivia Barbeur Twining, pretty daughter of the Air Force Chief of Staff and Mrs. Nathan Twining, climaxing a week's festivities of the Norfolk Municipal Gardens when military and civic dignitaries will greet the young Queen at the second annual International Azalea Court.

Norfolk is the headquarters of the Supreme Allied Command, Atlantic, the western arm of NATO, and the Queen's attending princesses have been chosen from the NATO Nations, each girl approved by the ambassador of her country. The human buds will vie in competition with 100,000 blooming azaleas, the girls gowned in white with cumberbunds of pink, frocks they can take home with them as souvenirs.

Local Naval officers serve as escorts for the Queen and her ladies-in-waiting, and have attended them to the many festivities and will escort them today to the Fort Story Officers' Club to a luncheon in connection with the annual Cape Henry Pilgrimage, a ceremony commemorating one of the first landings in this country of the English settlers at Cape Henry in 1607.

Honor Mrs. Thomas—

Mrs. Charles S. Thomas, wife of the Secretary of the Navy, was the honor guest at a luncheon Wednesday, Mrs. Murray L. Royer, wife of Vice Admiral Royer, being the hostess at the party given at the Army and Navy Country Club.

RAdm. & Mrs. Leggett In D. C.—

Retired Rear Admiral and Mrs. Wilson B. Leggett, Jr., have returned to their Washington home for a short stay and will be on hand for the annual meeting of the Society of Naval Engineers, 29 April. They were the guests in compli-

THE "Fledgling Frolic" is getting to be an annual affair at Maxwell AFB, Montgomery, Ala. The first "Fledgling Frolic" was celebrated in April of 1954 by the Maxwell Officers' Wives' Club with a lawn party at the home of Mrs. Laurence S. Kuter, wife of the Air University Commanding General. The accent is on young people. At that party, to which all Wives' Club members and their children were invited, the Maxwell Officers' Wives' Club officially launched its baby book, "The Fledgling Log."

"The Fledgling Log" is a beautiful white baby book sold by the Wives' Club, and the proceeds from its sale are used to benefit youth activities throughout the Air Force.

This April marks the first anniversary of "The Fledgling Log" and the occasion was

This Bill Could Save Families Millions

THIS is the text of the bill proposed by the Defense Department which would permit reduced rentals for Service families occupying substandard quarters. Pentagon authorities say that it would mean a net saving to Service personnel of about $15,000,000 a year to compensate for their having to live in facilities which are not considered adequate for normal family living.

A BILL

To permit members of the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, Coast and Geodetic Survey, and Public Health Service, and their dependents, to occupy inadequate quarters on a rental basis without loss of basic allowance for quarters.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That notwithstanding the provisions of any other law, members of the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, Coast and Geodetic Survey, and Public Health Service and their dependents may occupy on a rental basis, without loss of basic allowance for quarters, inadequate quarters under the jurisdiction of any of the uniformed services, notwithstanding that such quarters may have been constructed or converted for assignment as public quarters.

SEC. 2. The Secretaries of the Army, Navy, and Air Force for the respective military departments, the Secretary of the Treasury for the Coast Guard when the Coast Guard is operating as a service in the Treasury Department, the Secretary of Commerce for the Coast and Geodetic Survey, and the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare for the Public Health Service, hereafter referred to as the Secretaries, are each authorized, subject to standards established pursuant to section 5 hereof, to designate as rental housing such housing as he may determine to be inadequate as public quarters.

SEC. 3. The Secretaries are each further authorized, subject to standards established pursuant to section 5 hereof, to lease inment to whom Rear Admiral and Mrs. Neil Dietrick entertained last week.

Entertain At Dinner-Dance—

Brig. Gen. O. B. Rosenbaum entertained informally at the dinner-dance at the Army and Navy Club Saturday night last.

Wives Of Naval Comm. Div. To Lunch—

The wives of the Naval Communications Division will have a luncheon at the Naval Gun Factory Wednesday, 4 May. Mrs. Henry C. Bruton will be the honored guest. Mrs. Gordon L. Caswell, luncheon chairman, plans a short business meeting followed by a millinery fashion show arranged by Mrs. Alice B. Thomas.

adequate housing to personnel of any of the mentioned services for occupancy by them and their dependents. The housing facilities leased, as herein provided shall not be required to have been constructed with funds derived from appropriations specifically made for the purpose of the construction of rental housing for personnel of the services mentioned.

SEC. 4(a). All housing units determined, pursuant to section 2 of this Act to be inadequate shall, within four years of such determination, either be altered or improved so as to qualify as public quarters, or be demolished or otherwise disposed of: Provided, That there may be excepted from the requirements of this section such housing as the respective Secretary shall determine, subject to the standards established pursuant to section 5 hereof, to be urgently needed because there is a shortage of housing located within a reasonable proximity and available at suitable rentals, but such exceptions shall be reviewed and redetermined at least annually.

(b) For such time as the Secretary concerned shall determine, there may be excepted from the requirements of subsection (a) of this section, housing which is inadequate for reasons of size alone under such criteria as the said Secretary shall prescribe pursuant to standards authorized by section 5 of this Act.

SEC. 5. The provisions of this Act shall be administered under regulations approved by the President.

SEC. 6. The Act of July 2, 1945 (ch. 227, 59 Stat. 316) is hereby repealed.

Naval War College Alumni—

Alumni of the Naval War College and their guests will meet at the Army-Navy Country Club at 7:30 p.m. on Saturday, 14 May, for dinner and dancing. Invitations have been sent to all officers of the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Air Force, and Coast Guard who are graduates or former members of the Staff of the College, and who are known to be residing in the Washington area.

Any interested alumnus or Staff member who has not received an invitation may call Cdr. F. W. Pump, USN, on Department of Defense Extension 55843; Col. A. B. Moore, USAF, on Department of Defense Extension 71477; or Col. C. H. Dayhuff, USA, on Department of Defense Extension 52826, for details. The deadline date for reservations is Tuesday, 10 May.

Ordnance Ladies Will Have Coffee

The Army Ordnance Ladies' Association will hold its Spring get-acquainted coffee on 26 April, at 10 a.m., at the Army-Navy Country Club. All newcomers whose husbands have arrived for duty since last Fall are invited to meet the members of the Association. An added feature will be a first-hand report of one of the organization's charity projects—The Korean Book Han-San Orphanage—by Col. Albert Wells, who recently returned from Korea. Colonel Wells commanded the 314th Ordnance Depot in Korea when it "adopted" the orphanage. Under the leadership of Mrs. Harry Haas, the orphanage committee has had a most successful year.

The Hospitality Committee of the Association, whose chairman is Mrs. Daniel F. Shepherd, is arranging the coffee and will assist Mrs. Emerson L. Cummings, wife of the Chief of Ordnance, in greeting the guests.

Army Dental Officers' Dance—

The officers of the Army Dental Corps of the Washington area and their wives will have their annual formal dinner-dance, on Saturday, 23 April, at the Officers' Club at Ft. McNair. Music will be furnished by Tiny Meeker's orchestra.

ATC Women Elect—

The Army Transportation Corps Women's Club will celebrate its election day with a "brunch" at Gregory Hall, the Quartermaster Corps Officers' Club, at 11 a.m. on Wednesday, 27 April. A unique comedy fashion show, written and directed by Mrs. Marzelle F. Boyd, chairman of the program committee, promises good entertainment.

Arrangements for the party are being made by a committee headed by Mrs. Howard B. Mickey. Her assistants are Mesdames Robert W. Thompson, Jack W. Boyer, Richard V. Hart, Raymond D. Wood, Burton E. Miles and Robert N. Mann.

Information concerning reservations may be obtained by calling Mrs. Donald W. Noake at Kellogg 7-0396.

This meeting will be the last of the current season for the club as a whole, although the bi-monthly meetings of the bridge and canasta group, and the home and garden unit activities, will continue. The final large social event of the year, which the club sponsors, will be the formal dance in June, commemorating the fifth birthday of the Army Transportation Corps.

Navy Supply Corps Wives Gather

If a lady knows that a foreign diplomat is about to kiss her hand, how does she present it? Must calling cards be engraved? What is the correct form for a Lieutenant? For a Commander? Is script the thing to use? Where does one leave calling cards when on duty in Washington? Who attends the White House reception? How does one know the correct seating arrangement if a dinner is to be attended by ranking officers and perhaps foreign diplomats? Miss Ruth Tarrant, in her address "Navy Protocol in Washington," held the attention of the Navy Supply Corps Officers Wives at their 12 April luncheon at the Army-Navy Country Club, by posing these questions and giving the correct answers. Miss Tarrant's office is in constant touch with the State Department and the White House. She, herself, is a Navy "junior" and a former Wave, a background which has fitted her well for her position in the office of Navy Protocol at the Pentagon.

Receiving with Mrs. Arnold, wife of RAdm. Ralph J. Arnold, Chief of the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts, were Mrs. Parks, wife of RAdm. Joel D. Parks, the Deputy Chief of the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts, Miss Tarrant, Mrs. DeWitt C. MacKenzie, executive chairman of the Club, and Mrs. A. E. Desrosier, luncheon chairman.

The umbrella motif was carried out in decorations for the tables and for name cards. Included on the decorating committee were: Mesdames F. D. Smith, chairman, R. H. Wilson, G. E. Minor and L. P. Zenk. Hostesses included Mesdames H. E. Conkling, W. F. Harvey, jr., R. S. Balch, G. O. Hays, jr., H. O. Durham, jr., H. H. Hunt, A. D. Cox, jr., and A. L. Child, 3d.

Mrs. J. McDugald, secretary to the Brazilian Ambassador to the Organization of American States, announced the topic for her discussion to be given at the next luncheon on 10 May. She will speak on "Brazil—And the World's Most Beautiful City." Mrs. McDugald hopes to bring guests of prominence with her and dancers who will perform in true South American style.

Mesdames Thomas J. Ingram, H. Dennis Moore, Roger W. Gray, J. W. Cooper, H. Cagle, Richard E. McVoy and J. B.

MISS VALARIA JANE ANDERSON, daughter of Col. and Mrs. R. L. Anderson of Falls Church, Va., will become the bride of Mr. David MacKeen Thomson next summer.

MISS PATRICIA LYNN GAITHE, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Loren E. Gaithe of Ft. Monmouth, N. J., whose engagement to 2d Lt. John M. Seward, son of Col. and Mrs. John R. Seward of Arlington, Va., has been announced by her parents.

MISS SHIRLEY LAMO-REAU, who will become the bride of Capt. Errol E. Hayes, jr., USA, in June, is the daughter of Mr. Francis L. Lamoreaux.

MRS. ARTHUR R. STEBBINS, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Raymond E. Daehler, the former Miss Barbara Lou Daehler, before her marriage on 10 April to Lieutenant Stebbins.

MISS ELEANOR ANN JONES, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Jones of Bayside, L. I., whose engagement to Cadet Charles H. Martin, Jr., USMA, son of Colonel (USA-Ret.) and Mrs. Martin, has been announced by her parents.

Ericson were welcomed as new members to the Club.

A farewell was extended to Mrs. Desrosier who has served as luncheons chairman during the year. Her assistant, Mrs. R. H. Tobias, will serve in that capacity for the remainder of the year. Mrs. W. Scott, jr., was welcomed as a replacement for Mrs. Scott K. Anderson in the position of Jango chairman.

Engineers Have Busy Social Season—

The years turned back at the Ft. Lesley J. McNair Officers' Club on the evening of 16 April, when Engineer officers and their ladies gathered for the Corps' annual Castle Ball in the green, candlelit ballroom. From the time of the Spanish-American War until after WW I, Ft. McNair—then known as Washington Barracks—was the home of the Engineers.

The Chief of Engineers and Mrs. Samuel D. Sturgis, jr., Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Emerson C. Itschner and Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Louis J. Rumaggi welcomed the members and their guests. Mrs. Itschner is president of the Engineer Officers' Wives Club, and Mrs. Rumaggi, chairman of the Committee for the Ball.

Following the reception and dinner, there was dancing till midnight to the music of Sidney's band. Fragrant apple blossoms and delicate white narcissi filled low crystal bowls, luminous in the candle glow. As a backdrop to the long center table—flanked by flags of the various Engineer units—there was a huge facsimile of the Corps insignia, the gold Castle.

Seated with General and Mrs. Sturgis were Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Bernard Robinson, Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Amos A. Fries, Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Emerson C. Itschner, Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Louis J. Rumaggi, the Assistant Commandant of the Engineer School and Mrs. Gerald E. Galloway, and Col. and Mrs. Walter Krueger, jr. A group at another table included

Service Wives Course Begins At Penn State

■ UNIVERSITY PARK, PA. The first class in the Orientation Course, "The Life of the Service Wife," was held last week on the Penn State campus. Approximately 80 wives and fiancées of men already in, or contemplating entry into the military service, attended the class entitled "The Armed Forces." This was the first in a series of six classes to be presented during the course.

Maj. John F. McHugh of the Air Force ROTC, was moderator and opened the class by convening the group and introducing Col. Daniel F. Riva, Professor of Air Science at Penn State. Colonel Riva gave the welcoming address and presented the purpose and overview of the course.

Major McHugh then introduced the members of a panel who explained the respective roles of the three services in the United States Defense Team. The three Commanders of the ROTC units at Penn State comprised the panel. Col. Lucien E. Bolduc, Professor of Military Science and Tactics, presented the role of the Army as a member of the Defense Team. Capt. Rowland H. Groff, Professor of Naval Science, followed with the role of the Navy, and Colonel Riva presented the Air Force mission and functions. At the conclusion of the presentations, the panel was opened to questions from the audience.

After a brief intermission WO Jack C. Overstreet, of the Air Force ROTC, explained rank and grade within the services and then introduced the group to some of the customs and courtesies of the service.

Obituaries

General Peyton C. March, USA-Ret.

Funeral services for Gen. Peyton Conway March, USA-Ret., WWI Army Chief of Staff, who died, 13 April, at Walter Reed Army Hospital, Washington, D.C., were held on 17 April.

The funeral cortege, with elements of all branches of the Armed Forces, formed at 15th St., N.W., and Constitution Ave., Washington, proceeded to Arlington National Cemetery, where graveside services were conducted by Chaplain (Brig. Gen.) Frank A. Tobey, Army Deputy Chief of Chaplains.

The procession was led by Brig. Gen. John S. Upham, Jr., Director of the NATO Standing Group, Office of the Secretary of Defense, who served as Escort Commander.

Following were the U. S. Army Band; a 400-man battalion of U. S. Military Academy Cadets; Company A of the 3d U. S. Infantry Regiment; a battery of Field Artillery from Ft. Bragg, N. C.; a troop of the 3d Armored Cavalry from Ft. Meade, Md.; a company of Marines from the Marine Barracks, Washington; a company of sailors from the Potomac River Naval Command; a squadron of airmen from Bolling AFB, D. C.; and a composite company of uniformed women of the Armed Forces. Succeeding these groups were pallbearers from the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard and Air Force; a special guard of honor composed of high ranking General and Flag officers; the honorary pallbearers; and the Secretaries of Defense, the Treasury, Army, Navy, Air Force and State Department and diplomatic representatives, with police escorts preceding and following the entire line of march.

The honorary pallbearers were Congressman Dewey Short; Senator Leverett Saltonstall; Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson; Mr. Bernard Baruch; General of the Army Douglas MacArthur; General of the Army George C. Marshall; General of the Army Omar Bradley; Army Chief of Staff Matthew B. Ridgeway; Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, USA-Ret.; Ralph Cooper Hutchins, President of Lafayette College; Under-Secretary of the Treasury W. Randolph Burgess; Gen. J. Lawton Collins; Lt. Gen. Stanley Embick; Gen. Williston B. Palmer; Gen. Robert Wood; Lt. Gen. Horace L. McBride; Maj. Gen. Stanley Rinehart, USA-Ret.; Brig. Gen. Frank Cocheu, USA-Ret.; Brig. Gen. Beverly Browne; Maj. Gen. Leonard Heaton; Brig. Gen. Chauncey Fenton; Maj. Gen. John Danford, USA-Ret.; Brig. Gen. George P. Tyner; Maj. Gen. W. D. Connor; Col. George Hinman, and Brig. Gen. J. W. Beacham.

RADM. S. C. Hooper, USN-Ret.

Funeral services for RADM. Stanford Caldwell Hooper, USN-Ret., who died at his winter home at Miami Beach, Fla., on 6 April, were held at the Ft. Myer, Va. Chapel, on 11 April, with burial at Arlington National Cemetery.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Margaret Nye Hooper of 4425 Garfield St., N. W., Washington, D. C.; and one daughter, Miss Elizabeth Hooper.

Admiral Hooper, considered one of the Navy's top communications experts, and a pioneer in radio development, was born at Colton, Calif. He was graduated from the U. S. Naval Academy in 1905. Among the many recognitions of his outstanding service was the Elliott Cresson Gold Medal awarded him by the Franklin Institute, Philadelphia, and the Marconi Memorial Medal of Merit presented to him by the Veteran Wireless Operators Association. He was retired from active duty in 1945.

Col. James G. Hannah, USA-Ret.

Col. James G. Hannah, 83, USA-Ret., died at his home in Columbus, Ga., on 14 April, of a heart condition.

Colonel Hannah had lived in Columbus for more than 20 years, moving there after his retirement in 1928. A veteran of the Spanish-American War, he was active in local civic and Masonic activities.

He was born 15 June 1872 in Albany, N. Y., and entered the Army in 1898 at Syracuse, N. Y. He was a lieutenant in the 203d New York Volunteer Regiment during the Spanish-American War.

Colonel Hannah was stationed at Ft. Benning, Ga., during its first stages of operation. He was retired at Waynesboro, Va., in 1928 because of disability in line of duty.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Gertrude Hannah, Columbus; one son, Col. Tom Hannah, USA, Washington, D. C., and two daughters, Mrs. Gertrude Fuller, wife of Col. William Fuller, USA, of Ft. Leavenworth, Kans., and Mrs. Marion Burt of Columbus; one grandson, Capt. Tommy Burt, USA, of Ft.

INDUSTRY IN DEFENSE

Industrial Security Is New Group's Goal

Paul Henson, director of security for Reynolds Metals Co., has been elected president of the recently organized American Society for Industrial Security.

The organization, which will function as a professional society for industrial security, will conduct forums, study and research to increase general knowledge and establish ethical and professional standards.

Industrial security embraces the fields of plant security, plant protection, internal security, government industrial security and related activities.

OTHER OFFICERS ELECTED were Gerald P. Kavanaugh of Hercules Powder Co., first vice president; A. Ross Miller of North American Aviation Co., second vice president; Russell E. White of General Electric Co., secretary, and P. C. Wolz of Eastman Kodak Co., treasurer.

ELECTED AS DIRECTORS were Glenn V. Dierst of Boeing Airplane Company; Edward E. Conroy of American Cyanamid Co.; Richard H. Lowe of Socony-Vacuum Oil Co.; William H. Corrigan of Ford Motor Co.; K. C. Flory of Allis Chalmers Manufacturing Co.; A. T. Deere of Dow Chemical Co., and C. W. Bracy of Bell Aircraft Corp.

Former AF Maj. Lent Joins Reaction Motors

Robert R. Lent has been appointed Washington Representative for Reaction Motors, Inc. He will maintain liaison in the Washington-Baltimore area with various military departments and contractors for whom RMI is conducting projects.

A veteran of 12 years with the Air Force, Mr. Lent served in Europe during WW II as a heavy bomber pilot and more recently was active as an Air Force Administrative Officer. He was separated from service with rank of Major.

Detroit Tank Plant Goes Into Mothballs

Plans are afoot to convert the Chrysler-operated Detroit Tank Plant, Mich., into the nation's second largest stand-by defense manufacturing installation.

Large-scale maintenance preparations are underway to place the one-million square-foot facility on a standby basis for the Army Ordnance Corps. Shutting down of the plant was ordered after completion 31 March of the T-51 heavy tank retrievers contract.

More than 1500 production machines and other equipment in the plant will be placed on a stand-by schedule. The largest moth-ball plant in the country is the two-million-square-foot Tank Engine plant in New Orleans.

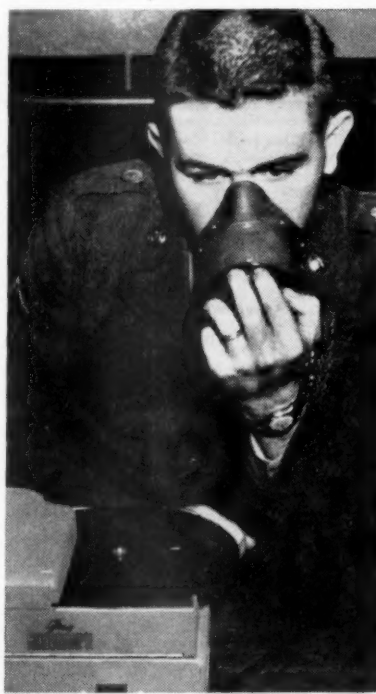

The Detroit Tank plant, in military operation since July, 1952, turned out T-51 tank retrievers and M-47 medium tanks.

GDC Plans Research Center In Groton, Conn.

A $1-million research and development center will be built this Summer at the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics Corporation in Groton, Conn., where the USS Nautilus was built and a sister ship, the USS Sea Wolf, is building.

The center will be housed in a three-story brick building adjoining the plant's old iron foundry which will be renovated and integrated into the research center.

The center will provide new research facilities in connection with the division's submarine construction program. It also will help coordinate developmental work at Electric Boat with that being carried out at other divisions of General Dynamics. It is expected the center will be of substantial benefit to the division's industrial customers.

ARMY PFC CHRISTOPHER STONE demonstrates the new dictation device used by military reporters to speed up transcription of trial proceedings. The stenographer records what is said in court by talking into the recording machine. The new steno-mask technique soon will become standard dictation procedure in the Army.

Staff To Study Missiles, Atoms And Electronics

A team of leading scientists is now operating as a part of Avco Manufacturing Corporation's defense organization, Victor Emanuel, Chairman and President, announced at the Company's Annual Stockholder meeting.

Avco, he said, has assembled two outstanding scientific groups, one comprising staff members and the other consultants in the fields of advanced electronics, guided missiles and nuclear energy. Current research projects include work on an inter-continental ballistic missile and in an important phase of the continental air defense program.

Mr. Emanuel said that the company's research and development activity in propulsion and electronics has now been extended to "important frontiers in atomic energy and related fields, with our enlarged scientific staff as a fundamental part of current and forthcoming corporate operations."

Dr. Arthur R. Kantrowitz, an authority on the application of molecular and atomic phenomena to high-speed aerodynamics, is directing an Avco research contract in the field of hypersonic aerodynamics relating to missiles, Mr. Emanuel said.

The consultant group includes: Physical Chemistry, Dr. Simon H. Bauer; Theoretical Physics, Dr. Hans A. Bethe; Theoretical Physics and Chemistry, Dr. Peter J. W. Debye; Chemistry, Dr. Clifford C. Furnas; Mathematics, Dr. Mark Kac; Radar, Dr. John Ruze; Aeronautical Engineering, Dr. William R. Sears.

Avco has also contracted with Cornell Aeronautical Laboratory, Buffalo, N.Y., for use of its facilities and personnel as required in connection with problems relating to the field of hypersonic aerodynamics on an Avco missile project.

Mr. Emanuel said the company's full-time scientific staff includes:

Metallurgy, Dr. Heinrich K. Adenstedt; Electronic and Optic Instrumentation, Dr. George Bruck; Guided Missiles, Fred A. Darwin; Propulsion, Dr. Anselm Franz; Space Medicine, Dr. Fritz Haber; Nuclear Engineering, Dr. J. A. Kyger; Aeronautical Engineering, Dr. Arthur Nutt; Radar Research, John W. Marchetti; Advanced Electronics, D. B. Nason; and Thermodynamics, Dr. John P. Silvers.

U. S. COAST GUARD

Secretary of The Treasury—George M. Humphrey
Commandant—Vice Adm. Alfred C. Richmond

THE Coast Guard retired 15 officers during March.

Heading the list were Commo. Beckwith Jordan and Capt. Niels S. Haugen, who ended 30 year careers.

Also completing 30 years of service were: LCDrs. John B. Klapperich, Frank W. Dunford, Elliott F. Lowrie, Stanley H. Hatch, LeRoy Howell, Aubrey Rogers and Eugene A. Guenet; and WO's Samuel H. Howell and Theodore R. Dalton.

LCDr. John I. Gillikin retired after 20 years.

Lt. John J. Pazeretsky was transferred from the temporary disability retired list to the permanent retired list.

Appointment

President Eisenhower has appointed Frank M. Batha, a Coast Guard enlisted man, to the temporary rank of Warrant Officer, W-1, effective 7 April.

Obituaries

Benning, and two granddaughters, Linda and Virginia Fuller of Leavenworth, Kans. Interment was in Arlington National Cemetery on 19 April.

Maj. Gen. Ralph S. Keyser, USMC

Funeral services for Maj. Gen. Ralph S. Keyser, USMC-Ret., were held at the Ft. Myer, Va., Chapel, on 21 April, with burial at Arlington National Cemetery. General Keyser, who was 71 years old, died at the U. S. Naval Hospital, Bethesda, Md., on 19 April, after a long illness.

A native of Thoroughfare, Prince William County, Va., General Keyser served three years in the Army, before receiving his commission in the Marine Corps, in 1905. A veteran of WWI, in which he served as a battalion commander with the famed 5th Marine Regiment and as Assistant Chief of Staff of the 2d Division, he was retired in 1937, but was recalled to active duty for a short time in 1942.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Charlotte Capers Keyser of 4310 Cathedral Ave., N. W., Washington, D. C.; one daughter, Mrs. C. Brewster Chapman, 2225 Hall Pl., N. W., Washington; and two grandchildren, Rebecca Palmer Chapman and C. Brewster Chapman, 3d.

VAdm. Clifton A. F. Sprague, USN-Ret.

VAdm. Clifton A. F. Sprague, USN-Ret., died on 11 April, at the U. S. Naval Hospital, San Diego, Calif., at the age of 58.

A veteran of many of the WWII Pacific carrier operations, Admiral Sprague is remembered most vividly for his participation in the two-day Battle of Leyte Gulf. He was commanding six small jeep carriers, a few destroyers and some destroyer escorts, when he was surprised by a superior Japanese fleet moving in on General Douglas MacArthur's newly-won Philippine beachhead. Admiral Sprague fought a bitter rearguard battle with planes, torpedoes, smoke screens and minor batteries. One of his carriers and several smaller craft were sunk by the enemy force, but the American fleet inflicted such injury on the Japanese that they retreated, leaving the beachhead safe.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Annabel Sprague of 733 Alameda Blvd., Coronado, Calif.; and two daughters, Mrs. Travis Reneau of Chula Vista, Calif., and Mrs. Daniel Vaughn of Santa Clara, Calif.

CofS To Argentina

A press dispatch from Buenos Aires, Argentina, said this week that General Matthew B. Ridgway, USA, would retire as Chief of Staff in August and would head the Kaiser Motor Car Factory in that nation.

General Ridgway was in Buenos Aires on 19 April.

Survivor Benefits

Defense Department agrees that FECA benefits should be eliminated in the future, and that survivors of all Service personnel—Regular, Reserve and National Guard—receive equal treatment.

Testifying before the House group, headed by Representative Porter Hardy (D-Va.), Defense officials emphasized this week that the present Survivors' Benefit System has given rise to many inequities.

It was pointed out, by way of example, that the widow of a Reserve major or lieutenant commander with 10 years' service might receive $677 a month, including $93 Servicemen's Indemnity, $128 from Old Age Survivors Insurance, and $456 from Federal Employees Compensation.

The widow of a Regular or National Guard O-4 under similar circumstances would receive $371, which would include $93 Servicemen's Indemnity, $128 OASI and $150 Veterans Administration compensation.

The Pentagon took the position that the present inequitable situation will be compounded by the expiration of Social Security provisions for military personnel on 30 June.

This legislation has credited all Service personnel, regardless of rank, with a wage credit of $160 per month.

The new plan would change this. For OASI wage deduction purposes, it would be assumed that everyone above grade E-5 would be receiving $350 a month—which is the maximum for which deductions are made.

An E-1 would have a wage credit of $200 per month.

In addition to testimony by Defense Department representatives, the Hardy Select Committee will hear from spokesmen for the Budget Bureau, Veterans Administration, Department of Health, Education and Welfare, and General Accounting Office.

During May, the "exploratory hearings" will continue, with present plans calling for presentation of a formal bill to Congress in June. This will be done by the Select Committee, with coordination among the Armed Services, Ways and Means and Veterans Affairs Committees.

This chart shows the heart of the plan as it would affect veterans and retired personnel—
